this monograph examines and analyses the phenomenon of non binding instruments also known as soft law in the law of armed conflict or international humanitarian law in the past 30 years there have been several non binding instruments created designed as either best practice guidelines or re statements of applicable law these instruments are not treaties but they nevertheless put themselves forward as authoritative statements of what the law is and in some instances what the law should be soft law instruments can be dynamic prompt and responsive measures to address pressing issues in armed conflicts by drawing on the skill of a small group of experts these instruments can be debated and drafted in a timelier manner than if these issues were to be left to the international community of 194 states to resolve furthermore because these instruments do not have to be sent for debate to an international conference of states it means that the provisions are not subject to the usual revisions reservations and dilutions that come with attempting to reach consensus however there are potential and actual problems with these instruments and the processes that bring them to fruition and how they are received in practice by states and other stakeholders this volume looks at the benefits and drawbacks for states and non state actors with regards to soft law whether they are effective additions to the law of armed conflict analysing the development through the lens of theories of legitimacy and legality in international law homeless assistance has frequently adhered to the three hots and a cot model which prioritizes immediate material needs but may fail to address the political and social exclusion of people experiencing homelessness in this study loehwing reconsiders typical characterizations of homelessness citizenship and democratic community through unconventional approaches to homeless advocacy and assistance while conventional homeless advocacy rhetoric establishes the urgency of homeless suffering it also implicitly invites housed publics to understand homelessness as a state of abnormality that destines the individuals suffering it to life outside the civic body in contrast loehwing focuses on atypical models of homeless advocacy the meal sharing initiatives of food not bombs the international competition of the homeless world cup and the annual homeless persons memorial day campaign she argues that these modes of unconventional homeless advocacy provide rhetorical exemplars of a type of inclusive and empowering civic discourse that is missing from conventional homeless advocacy and may be indispensable for overcoming homeless marginalization and exclusion in contemporary democratic culture loehwing s interrogation of homeless advocacy rhetorics demonstrates how discursive practices shape democratic culture and how they may provide a potential civic remedy to the harms of disenfranchisement discrimination and displacement this book will be welcomed by scholars whose work focuses on the intersections of democratic theory and rhetorical and civic studies as well as by homelessness advocacy groups studies of the influence of class and religion on politics often point to their gradual decline as a result of social change backed up by extensive evidence from 11 case studies and a 15 country pooled analysis the editors argue instead that the supply of choices by parties influences the extent of class divisions political choice matters
